We want to develop a spending tracker app that is able to record your daily spending like groceries, bill, taxi, clothing …etc. As university students, our bills could be messy if we do not manage it in an organized manner. So, we feel like it would be really useful and interesting if we could develop an application to make our life more organized. Nowadays, developers from other platforms tend to spend more time on mobile devices than any other platforms. Cell phone is really close to our daily life, we use it very frequently.
